

Civilian Advocacy Program

Our Advocates are working remotely and can answer questions about how to obtain Restraining Orders, provide updates on the criminal justice system and offer resources, support, and safety planning during this difficult time.

Things are changing daily at the courts and some police stations in Norfolk County but our Civilian Program Advocates are still working and available. We can help to navigate the court processes and are up to date on the day to day issues our clients are facing.

Please feel free to contact our Advocates at the below numbers:

For questions about domestic violence proceedings, restraining orders at Dedham District Court, or how the Dedham and Norwood Police Departments are handling these issues, please call:

Sarah Kinnane 857-939-3058

For questions about domestic violence proceedings, restraining orders at Quincy District Court or how the Braintree, Quincy or Weymouth Police are handling these issues, please call:

Maureen Flores 617-653-4226

For questions about how the Holbrook, Milton or Randolph Police are handling these issues or if Haitian or French languages are needed, please call:

Julie Thermidor 617-831-8326